WHAT CAN BE DONE TO IMPROVE WOMEN'S ECONOMIC STATUS?

TWO USD PROFESSORS TO PROVIDE ANSWERS MARCH 12 --

-- Free Public Forum

Here on March 12, two University of San Diego professors, with expertise in very different disciplines, will attempt to answer the question:

What can be done to improve the economic status of women?

The professors tackling the subject are Dr. Harriet Baber, assistant professor of philosophy, and Dr. Denise Dimon, assistant professor of economics.

The talk will take place from 7:30 p.m. to 9 p.m. at the Manchester Conference Center.

It is free and open to the public as part of the University of San Diego's faculty-sponsored spring semester series: Dilemmas in Economic Policy for a Just Society.

The professors will examine the economic and social forces that have led to women's new economic role in society.

And they will discuss why and how occupational segregation and wage discrimination continues to exist.

For more information, contact John Nunes at 260-4682.
